Harder earns registered architect designation

Lott + Barber announces that Bryan Harder has become a registered architect.

To become eligible to take the Georgia licensing exam, aspiring architects must have an accredited architectural degree and a minimum of three years practical experience in the architectural field.

Harder recently passed the licensing exam and met or exceeded all other criteria to become a registered architect in the state of Georgia.

Harder earned a master's degree in architecture from the Savannah College of Art and Design in 1997 and joined Lott + Barber in 2005.
